Call for Nominations

CESS invites nominations for two new members of our Board of Directors, as well as an incoming President. These positions are for three years, starting from the Annual Conference<sup>1</sup> in 2020 and ending at the Annual Conference in 2023.

The incoming President will serve as President-Elect from 2020/21, President from 2021/22 and Past-President from 2022/23. Please see below for further details about the role of CESS President.

CESS Board members play an active role in determining the direction of the major scholarly association working in our area. Joining the CESS Board offers you extensive networking and outreach opportunities. As a Board Member, you can gain or further your professional expertise by supporting the effective running of CESS through your active participation in board meetings and in our committees (current committees are dedicated to: awards, communications, conferences, elections, institutional linkages, membership, and regional outreach).

Selection criteria

According to the CESS Bylaws, all CESS Board Members must have:

- Professional or scholarly expertise in a field relevant to the Central Eurasia region;
- Current CESS membership;
- Written and spoken fluency in English.

A strong candidate will have:

- A demonstrated commitment to CESS (for example through membership, conference participation, past/present active involvement in committee work);
- Excellent communication skills;
- Active involvement and preferably leadership experience in CESS or another similar organization;
- Willingness and availability to commit time to the work (expected to average 10-12 hours per month and including participating in email correspondence, monthly Virtual Board Meetings (held by email) and the face-to-face Annual Board Meeting).

<sup>1</sup> The Annual Conference has been postponed in 2020 but the CESS Board will still hold its Annual Board Meeting during the time that the Annual Conference should have taken place, and this is when new Board members will formally join the Board.

President role descriptions (from the CESS Bylaws)

The President shall be the principal executive officer of the Corporation and shall preside at all Board meetings. The President shall be responsible for seeing that Board resolutions and actions are carried into effect, and for reporting to the Board on the conduct and management of the affairs of the Corporation. The President, besides providing intellectual, managerial, and organizational leadership, shall, in consultation with the Executive Committee and the Treasurer, prepare an annual budget, taking into account the Corporation's estimated income and expenditures, for review and approval by the Board at the beginning of each year. At the same meeting, the President, together with the Treasurer, will prepare and present an annual report summarizing the Corporation's financial status, including a comparison of estimated and actual income and expenditures for the year and an analysis of any budgetary issues that may require the Board's attention. The President shall also perform such other duties as are usual to this office and that may from time to time be assigned to him or her, or specifically required to be performed by him or her, by these Bylaws, by the Board, or by law.
